Communications

CORRE communicates with its members by email messages, newsletters, open meetings, and a website. Email and our website are our primary methods for informing members about our annual meeting, and about urgent issues such as pension/benefit changes that could affect you. Having your current email address will help CORRE to alert you quickly regarding important issues, and our website can provide more detailed information. For members who do not use email, CORRE may attempt to contact you by phone since postal mail has become prohibitively expensive.

Website

CORRE's website (<https://www.mycorre.org>) serves as a means for conveying announcements and recent news items. It also serves as a repository for information about the organization and its programs. Here you will find: our history, charter, structure, programs, officers, accomplishments, links to relevant information, links to key legislative representatives, and much more.

Meetings

The CORRE Board of Directors holds meetings at 10:00 a.m. on the third Wednesday of each month, both in person and via Zoom. These meetings are open to the membership, and you may request a link to the meeting by contacting communications@mycorre.org at least one day in advance. An Annual Membership meeting is held each fall to report to the membership. During the meeting, contributing members participate in electing CORRE Board Members and Officers.

Coalition of Oak Ridge Retired Employees

CORRE

Working for FAIR and EQUITABLE retirement BENEFITS for retirees and survivors receiving pensions from U.S Department of Energy Oak Ridge contractors.

Revised March, 2025

What is CORRE?

The Coalition of Oak Ridge Retired Employees (CORRE) was established as a not-for-profit corporation in 2002 to represent the interests of some 15,000 retirees and survivors receiving pension and retiree health care benefits from U. S. Department of Energy (DOE) contractor-managed facilities located in Oak Ridge, Tennessee. The primary objectives of CORRE are: (a) to maintain and improve pension, health, and other benefits; and (b) to safeguard funds for those benefits.

Focus

A basic need of retirees and surviving spouses is a general pension adjustment that compensates at least partially for inflationary loss in purchasing power during retirement. The last general cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) to our pensions occurred on April 1, 2001. According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics CPI Inflation Calculator, $1.00 of retirement benefit in April 1998 needs to be $1.96 today to have the same purchasing power. CORRE is actively seeking a cost of living increase to our retirement pensions through interactions with contractor and congressional representatives.

CORRE believes that Congress should mandate that DOE provide annual pension increases to Oak Ridge contractor retired workers in the amount equal to that given annually to Federal retired worker pension plans.

Healthcare insurance is a benefit that retirees have planned for and depended on. It is a benefit that is crucial to the welfare of retirees and especially surviving spouses. CORRE closely monitors planned changes in health care benefits in Oak Ridge and works to maintain a satisfactory and equitable level of benefits for all of its members. Rising healthcare expenses and insurance premiums are a concern affecting all retirees as is the adequacy of Retirement Reimbursement Arrangement (RRA) stipends. CORRE likewise monitors any RRA changes and serves as an advocate for all OR retirees for these healthcare benefits.

CORRE also advocates for retiree spouses. An inequity exists within and among the contractors in that some retirees pay only 2% of pension for the Surviving Spouse Option while others pay a range of costs averaging about 10%. CORRE has requested that the contractors set the cost for all eligible retirees at 2% of pension so that all retirees pay the same cost for the same benefit.

Membership in CORRE

All 15,000 retirees and surviving spouses of DOE's managing contractors in Oak Ridge are represented by CORRE. This representation is automatic upon retirement. However, many retirees elect to become "Contributing Members" by making a one-time contribution of $20 or more toward funding CORRE's work. These funds are used exclusively for CORRE's operating expenses.

CORRE is managed and operated entirely by a volunteer Board of Directors elected by Contributing Members at the Annual Meeting. Contributing Members who wish to serve on the Board of Directors may submit a Work Experience narrative to the Nominating Committee Chair for review and consideration. Contact can be made through communications@mycorre.org.
